Arts, Literature & Communication Program (500.A1)

Digital Arts & New Media

About the program:

Digital Arts & New Media is one of two interconnecting Media profiles in the Arts, Literature and Communication program. This exciting pre-university program prepares students for a wide variety of university studies and careers. The program's dynamic mix of theory and practice gives students a chance to sharpen their technical abilities, cultivate their artistic skills, develop critical understanding of visual culture, and express their creative voice.

You will learn:

Students will learn both digital arts and traditional studio arts practices to develop a comprehensive skill set preparing them for a variety of fields in the arts. The courses are designed to develop communication skills and critical thinking through a variety of creative approaches. Students will work on projects across mediums such as drawing, animation, sculpture, 3D modelling and digital imaging.

Courses are taught with the philosophy of experiential learning in mind, using project-based methods that allow students to learn the tools and techniques whether it be virtual or physical. These courses are complemented by theoretical courses that foster critical thinking through subjects that vary from art history to the analysis of visual culture.

The possibilities:

Graduates of Digital Arts and New Media are prepared for a wide variety of related art-based university programs such as computational arts, studio arts, communications, video game studies, animation, design, industrial design, art education, art history, scenography, as well as many other undergraduate programs including sociology, history and education. Join us and prepare to engage in exciting studies that will open doors to a world of possibilities.
